Make your Children Real Music Lovers

How many people do you know who can listen intelligently to high class music? Such people form a minority everywhere. Why? We all should like to be music lovers.

The trouble is that the people are not taught right from the start. Children do not get association with fine music in early life. Yet the finest accomplishment is to appreciate — even more than play a little — the best in music.

SANE COUNSEL.

Behind President Wilson and the statement he made to congress and the world on Tuesday, are a hundred million people with all the rights and duties of citizens. Many feel that the war is a declaration of war, but they are not so sure. Many feel that the war is a declaration of war, but they are not so sure. Many feel that the war is a declaration of war, but they are not so sure.

President Wilson sounded the keynote when he stated that this nation is in the war. That there is no half way measures, and his words must have burned deeply into the minds of the central powers as did the signature of John Hancock to the Declaration of Independence—a signature that King George could read without his glasses.

If one might criticize President Wilson it would be that he has been too lenient with the German army. Certainly there is absolute proof sufficient to convict any criminal in the action of the German army, both in Belgium, Serbia, and now again in Italy, against the women of the country they conquer or occupy. This can not all be blamed to the autocratic power of Berlin, and credit for the inhuman cruelty that has been practiced should be laid to the imperial government.

If war is declared on Austria there are more alien enemies in this country who are marked down for suspicion, but fortunately no more than were anticipated for all who have kept track of the war know that Austria and Hungary are more powerful in the hands of the German emperor and the war party in Germany. Meanwhile the registration of these alien enemies will be made more strict and it will be easier to designate the loyal citizen from the disloyal. It will simplify matters considerably and make matters easier in many lines.

President Wilson's statement should give no encouragement to the pacifists who have preached for an end of the war. Neither the President or his advisers can terminate this war until the mark set down by humanity is reached and the women and children of this country are absolutely safe from the outrages that have been acted in foreign lands. Meanwhile our young men must prepare for war and under the new regulations there will be no slackers. If they cannot be used for one purpose, they can for another, and the term "slacker" will become obsolete except for those who are so devoid of patriotism they will seek exemption on some trivial cause.

EARLY BUYING.

The Christmas gift custom is a very charming one if handled with some common sense and consideration for those who serve us. But if millions of people wake up about one week before the holiday to the fact that the usual gifts must be purchased and sent, the simultaneous burden of work thus created makes a lot of trouble.

As a result of this identical impulse, the people all at once, in what might seem like an attack of popular hysteria, begin to throng the stores. In some of them the rush becomes a jostling mob as the day approaches. The tired clerks show that the holiday is not one of peace on earth and good will to men.

Then comes a grand scrimmage to do up the packages and send them by mail and express. All over the country offices and railroad cars and teams are suddenly swamped by several times their usual business. The employees work many hours overtime, under conditions of strain and worry. They look forward to Christmas as the most unhappy time of the year.

We don't give any too much for Christmas, only we give injudiciously. The purchase of Christmas gifts on the part of those who have any money ahead, should be made all through the year as one sees suitable articles. Or at least it should begin early in the season and should be concluded a week or two before the holiday. Packages should be got off at that time by mail and express.

Then the last week might well be left to people who are hard up for money and can't anticipate their wants. If the strain could be distributed in this way, the season would impose no great hardship on anyone, and a great deal of happiness would be given.

UNITY OF ACTION.

There should be a unity of action on the part of Rock county residents on these requests for funds for food for one, or another. There are certain approved war activities that have the government's support, but when you come right down to the basic principle why not have the government add this assessment to their federal taxes and pay for it and give everyone a chance to pay his share? If not, why not adopt some of those schemes of county taxation and make the tax general. Take up the Keno-tickets and put it at work. Take up the plan of the various Michigan counties and assess every individual so much and put it all in one fund for such purposes.

The yellow card idea to designate the man who will not subscribe, whose name will be listed for future reference as a personal as this patriotism is a good one. Let it be taken up by the committee seeking to solve the problem that confronts us all. Meanwhile let us have a rest on continual demands for this or that activity. Wait until the general fund is arranged for.

Talk about universal training? Why those high school cadets have been General Crozier's suggestion that it be enacted by law. They are drilling not only once a week officially, but twice a week when they can, and if any citizen doubts their sincerity they should attend one of their drills on a Tuesday evening and watch them. They are now seeking uniforms and the citizens can help them by purchasing tickets to the moving picture show they are exploiting next week.

The Apollo club is to be congratulated in having brought to Janesville such a talented artist as their last concert, Arthur Shattuck. It is one of those rare musical treats that every citizen should avail themselves of attending.

With the kind of shoe leather you get now, after you have put on a new sole to save the upper, it soon becomes necessary to put on a new upper to save the sole.

Exemption from army service is asked for the ball players, but so far the government has not been asked to finance the game from the sale of Liberty bonds.

The government has at last decided that the enemy should go to some place other than the wharves where the munition ships are loading.

Dealers who held potatoes are reported sorry, not so much that they repent being food hoarders, is that a fall in price is expected.

It never bothers the foot producers to reduce the price of bread, as they can always cut down the size of the loaf a little more in proportion.

Fortunately all this advice being handed out to the farmer is so conflicting that he does not follow much of it, so little harm is done.

While the football season was no great success this fall, it created interest enough to keep the colleges going until baseball opens up.

The Germans are sore about their recent defeat in France, as the British didn't give advance notice that they were coming over for a visit.

The paper trust has kindly consented to allow congress to discuss the question of paper prices.

It is not absolutely necessary for the soldiers to learn French so as to be able to talk with the French girls.

THE LETTERS OF A GERMAN SPY.

Somewhere in America. W. Hohenzollern, Potsdam.

Omnipotent—One—I am deep distress in. It's no use around to beat the bush. I am against it.

I can find no secrets out. I can find not out anything which everybody else does not know yet. Here everybody everything knows. When some information get for you, I put him in my notebook, and when I by the newstand walk I see it in the papers with big headlines which can be read the street across.

All the inside information is outside information as soon like the first edition he came out. Americans hang all their troubles the clothesline on early in the morning, so if there is anything wrong anywhere they fix him.

I might as well come back home. And that would save you a lot of money. Everything I can find out, you can get from the papers, and by night they get him all fixed up again all right. So, by the time I get the news wigwagged to you all is different again.

I have got a chance now. The papers to it beat me.

"Take Back Your Gold and Give Me a Parcel."

"It's Not So Sweet as Once I Was, for Sugar's Hit the Sky."

CHAPTER II, 1890. "Fill 'em up again, McGinnis."

CHAPTER III, 1900. "Fill 'em up again, McGinnis."

CHAPTER V, 1920. "Fill 'em up again, McGinnis."

FAREWELL.

(The old roller towels have been banished from the washrooms of the capitol at Washington.—News Item.)

Farewell, old roller towel, farewell. We'll see your like no more. Pull many a statesman's mug you've dried.

In the halcyon days of yore. Pull many a microbe you've disheveled.

Pull many a deadly germ. Perhaps you've stopped some patriots.

From serving a second term. There's no use killing the statesmen off.

With mikes that you gaily shed. For statesmen are of peculiar mind.—They don't care when they're dead.

So travel along in your frightfulness. Old non-skid towel, pray do.

You're four hundred years behind the times. And we've had enough of you.

The Devil Designs.

The devil says by a tale of fire on a pile of sulphur Regs; his head was bowed upon his breast, his tail between his legs; a look of shame was on his face, a spark dripped from his eyes—he had sent his resignation to the throne up in the skies. "I am down and out," the devil said—he said it with a sob—"there are others that outclass me and I want to quit my job. Hell isn't in it with me and that lies along the Rhine. I'm a haberdasher and a piker, and therefore, I resign; one ammunition maker with his bloody shot and shell knows more about damnation than all the imps of hell. Give my job to Kaiser William. The author of this war—he understands it better a million times by far. I hate to leave the old home, the spot I love so well, but I feel that I'm not up-to-date in the art of running hell.—Sanger (Texas) Courier.

THE BABY PASSES.

He's got 'em at last, she has answered his pleading. And something of sorrow was mixed with the joy. And she sobbed as she called me from the floor. To take my first look at our regular boy. There was joy in his eyes, there was pride in his bearing. But the cause of her sadness I knew at a glance. For there stood our baby of yesterday, wearing His first little pair of brown corduroy pants.

He stood there before me, as straight as a rocket. The white suit discarded still lay on the floor. And I chuckled to notice a hand in each pocket.

There were hip pockets, too, that I had to explore. But I sighed with a mother a moment in counting. The price we had paid for Time's ruthless advance.

A babe never more to my knee would be mounting. We now had a boy dressed in corduroy pants.

His little white suits now must go to lie with the treasures of earlier years.

Time issues his orders in manner emphatic. And heeds not our sighs or our prayers or our tears.

He takes and he gives, and it's not of our choosing. One joy with another he quickly is supplanting.

And so though we sigh for the baby we're losing. We are proud of our boy in his corduroy pants.

Mix equal parts of cement and sifted sand with water, stiff enough to spread so you have a smooth surface, and have it one-third of an inch thick, or thicker if you wish. Let stand a few days to dry out. You have a good ice chest, keeps your ice longer and saves quite a bill.

Women Sufferers May Need Swamp Root

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Janesville Daily Gazette.

"Our Saturday Night" In Booklet Form

Each Saturday night for many years the Gazette has carried on its editorial page what has been known as "Our Saturday Night".

It is from the pen of the managing editor of the Gazette and is varied in its topics and forms. At times it is a lay sermon, at others a story of heart interest which has been read widely by the big Gazette family. Many readers have stated that it is like a dear friend to them—it makes them think, and supplies a quality of reading matter which touches the heart. Some have suggested that a number of these "Saturday" stories should be put into such form as could be kept permanently; and in compliance with these requests, and believing also that many other people would like to secure the feature in some permanent form, we have selected a number of these stories and printed them in booklet form on good paper and in good, readable type. We are offering them at fifty cents each by mail, or a copy can be had free with a year's paid-in-advance subscription to the Gazette.

These little books will make nice Christmas Gifts and will interest your friends.

If your subscription is already paid in advance—you can pay another year and secure the "Saturday Night" book.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

The day after Douglas Fairbanks registered his remarkable hit in "The Faithful" two years ago not an alert patron of the films passed him by without a look of recognition.

Not so, however, with a certain young actress of comedy parts who may safely be counted as the only player to duplicate the instant success with both critics and public that went to Fairbanks. Madge Kennedy doubtless rejoiced in the reviews and the applause which followed the first showing of "Baby Mine," but any one who knows the Goldwyn star knows, too, that she must rejoice for more than a certain accident makes it practically impossible for her to be recognized in everyday life by persons who have seen her only on the screen. And so she goes comfortably about the path of her daily routine—whether it leads her to the studio in New Jersey or down Fifth avenue—with the same sublime confidence in her anonymity that she enjoyed before "Baby Mine" flashed into popularity.

And the advent of "Nearly Married," her newest film, makes us little different.

The secret lies in the color of her hair and eyes and the accident is purely photographic. Look at Madge Kennedy on the screen and you find a black-eyed beauty with the blackest hair. See her out shopping and you find eyes of the richest brown and hair of auburn. Photographically and physically she is a brunette; but—there are brunettes and brunettes; and here is one that the camera gives a disguise which Sherlock Holmes himself might envy.

other royalists in evidence to any palpable extent. It has been suggested that she call the creature Kerensky but even this isn't safe.

Fay Tincher, comedienne, who scored so tremendously with Triangle, is to announce the personnel of her own company shortly. The organization will devote its attention exclusively to the making of comedies. Miss Tincher is in Los Angeles, where negotiations are being completed.

In an open letter to the exhibitors of the country, Lee A. Ochs, president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' league, calls attention to "unjust war taxes levied on the film industry," and urges means to have the severe import lightened at this session of congress.

Dustin Farnum is to head a company of his own, it is reported now, and is to produce under his own management—this in contradiction to the rumor that he had been signed by Goldwyn. The story carries with it announcement as to director, cast or first release.

English-French Dictionary Made Simple for Everybody.

The war has developed a greatly increased interest in the French language. Throughout the world people are studying French with avidity. Many books gotten out hurriedly for this demand have proven unsatisfactory because of the difficulty readers experienced in deciphering the pronunciations. This situation gave to Professor de Lapparent, a distinguished French scholar and journalist the inspiration for development of his new and simple Sound-Spelling Method.

This Method presents first the English word; then its French equivalent and then, spelled out in English syllables, comes the French word as it sounds to English ears. Exhaustive tests prove this method so easy that even a child readily acquires French with correct pronunciation. All who go to France should learn French. To do so would save time, money and embarrassment.

The Sound-Spelling Method is found only in the Soldiers-Sailors Diary and English-French Dictionary now being distributed exclusively by this newspaper on a coupon plan explained on another page. Interchange of ideas will broaden the soldier's horizon and acquirement of the French tongue will always be a business and social asset.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I should like to have some advice from you on the matter of how to treat my gentleman callers. I am a very pretty girl, so the young men of my town call me and I am quite popular with the younger set and have to attend all the parties and dances and sometimes entertain young people at my house.

(1) When two young men call on me, I usually allow them to stay in the same evening and want to call on me, how should I decide which one to allow to come, or would it be all right for me to have both?

(2) Usually when I have a gentleman friend here, my mother calls on him and he does not bring me home enough money to keep me in clothes and to keep the house going and both ends meet. He makes a good wage, but he spends so much on drink that there is little left. I have three small children, but the youngest is seven and they are at school. The girls together with me should they walk in couples, a boy and a girl?

(3) How late is it proper to let a party of young people stay at the house when having a party?

MABELLA BROWN.

Letter to Two Women

BY ZOE BECKLEY

NEW YORK, Friday Evening.

Dearest May:

I understand all about the break and the coming letter again. I rejoice with you that it all happened. The only sad part of it is my really deep disappointment at not seeing you. Oh, Maizie, the saddest and most intimate of friends planned for you and me. For, as I have said a hundred times, no matter how sympathetic a husband is he can never quite take the place of an understanding woman friend. I bet that's why so many women who live in mining camps and isolated ranches go crazy. It isn't hardship, or lack of love, or sympathetic companionship, it's the craving for another woman to talk to!

There is something very special I long to talk to you about, Maizie. Yet it's a little hard to put on paper. When sentiments become so bald and clumsy. Try not to read too much weight and significance into what I say. The whole thing is no more than a tiny shadow upon the writing of it should dispel. I have seen C. J. again.

Maizie, it was not of my doing. My undivided thoughts of late have been on my work—such delightful work, dear, different from any I've ever had. I have stayed long after hours sometimes, getting acquainted with details and working out problems that bothered me. I walked through the dark streets on my way home I have seen him. Twice he has spoken to me at some length.

But it was not so much what he said, as how he looked, that struck my heart like a physical blow. Maizie, he has gone down hill. He has no longer that look of crisp smartness I used to admire so much. Nor the air of super-refinement that was his chief charm. One of the times I saw him he had been drinking, and I saw a man who had the faintest kind of guilt—the guilt that robs a fellow creature of his fighting strength.

He said he had been ill again, had had a touch of pneumonia and was sensitive to cold. There was a cruel and blowing and as he touched my elbow to steady me at a crossing, his hand trembled—I couldn't say whether with chill or—or with something else. I only know that I always felt like a mother who has thrust her child into some stony "asylum" so as to be free to find her happiness unhindered. Isn't it her fault, if he loses his hopeful outlook on life? If he becomes surly-mannered and bitter and suspicious and hard?

Well, May, I am haunted! I can't get C. J. out of my thoughts. I am always expecting to meet him, always afraid I shall and vaguely afraid when I do not.

It is worrying me sick.

Talk to me, shake me, scold me, sympathize or laugh or jeer. But for goodness' sake, May, tell me I won't be forever shackled to this specter of my outlived years.

Thy loving and troubled KATIE.

Do You Know Such a Man?

I had occasion the other day to ask a new friend if he knew a certain man in the neighborhood in which I used to live.

"Don't know him," he said, "oh yes, that fat jolly fellow." (For the sake of any Bob Knowltons he is emphatically understood that was not his name.)

Further conversation proved that we were really referring to the same man. Otherwise I should never have believed it.

He Makes Hard Work of Living For His Family

For I happen to know "Bob Knowlton" from the inside and I know, he is one of those grouchily individuals who have the misfortune to belong to their families. I had never met him from the outside and so this estimate from an outsider startled me. Evidently that was the sort of man he was to his casual friends.

The discovery startled me to think what a lot of men there are like that. Women? Well, some, but not so many. At least not in my experience.

Something Masculine About the Combination

There seems to be something rather masculine about the combination of jollity and smooth speaking out-

Swearing to be faithful, loyal, constant, and true. Private Emery Wheel tore himself from the arms of Sylla Tiffy and marched away to the service ship, his head held high, the only one in step of all the twenty soldiers in his line.

II

Swearing to be true, constant, staunch, loyal and faithful, Private Emery Wheel tore himself from the arms of Twisted Blueque, his Belgian friend, who was his stern duty to cross the ocean on his furlough and all trusting Sylla Tiffy that all was over between them, that he had not really known his own mind.

Sylla's mother opened the door and drew white with surprise, green with mortification and red with embarrassment.

"Em," she said at length, "I don't know how to tell ye, but tell ye I must, hard as it is. Em, Sylla went and married Sergeant Doody because she was so lonely for ye, Em."

On the last day of his furlough, Emery Wheel received word that he was to serve in Russia, instead of in Belgium, for the remainder of the war.

No Official Word

Madison, Dec. 6.—Officials here have received no official word from Washington on the reported plan to close every school in the northern and central states during the months of January and February, in order to conserve the school supply. Authorities declare the plan is a feasible one, but until it is ordered by the government, no action will be taken in this state in the matter.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt was answer in this paper. Her name and address are given in the paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

Never call upstairs to announce a visitor. Go up, and quietly tell the person whom the visitor wishes to see. It is very impolite to call to anyone on another floor.

BERTHA. At an afternoon or morning wedding the bride wears just the same sort of gown she would wear at an evening wedding, except that it must be high in the neck and long in the sleeves. It may be as grand and as expensive, and have as long a train, as if the wedding were to take place in the evening. She may also wear a veil in the daytime.

MRS. J. C. If you have a "day at home," you need not see callers on any other day if you wish to do so. Chances are that no one will call on a day when you are at home. If you choose for receiving, you need not be at home oftener than once a month unless you wish to; and in the smaller cities this is quite often enough. If you have a party, you may have a day for receiving visitors, and a very convenient one for both caller and hostess. You should serve some very light refreshments, as a cup of tea and small cakes or sandwiches.

Household Hints

MENU HINT

Breakfast.

Flake Honey (slightly sweetened and cooked in a little milk).

Cinnamon Toast. Coffee.

Vegetable Soup. Corn Cracker.

No-Egg Cake. Cocoa.

(Recipe No-Egg Cake—One-half cup shortening compound, one cup brown sugar, cream, then add one cup flour, one cup raisins, one teaspoon soda, one cup salt, two cups flour. Steam three hours.)

Baked Macaroni with Cheese.

Stuffed Green Peppers.

Rye Bread. Butter.

Prune Whip. Cereal Coffee.

CONSERVATION DESSERTS.

Baked Indian Pudding (eggless, butterless and sugarless, but delicious). Cook one pint boiling water (salted) and two-thirds cup cornmeal about and two-thirds cup molasses. Pour into oiled baking dish, add one quart milk and half cup molasses. Sprinkle top with cinnamon and bake three hours or until thick as desired.

Chopped Suet Pudding—One cup chopped suet, one cup molasses, one cup sour milk, two raisins, three cups flour, two eggs, one teaspoon soda, spices to suit taste.

Steam three hours. To be eaten with any dressing you like.

Carrot Pudding—One cup chopped suet, one cup grated carrots, one cup grated potatoes, one cup molasses, one cup raisins, one teaspoon soda, one cup salt, two cups flour. Steam three hours.

Sauce for pudding: One pint water, one tablespoon flour or cornstarch (moisten with water), two tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons cream or small piece of butter, one teaspoon vanilla. Stir this in when water is boiling, add vanilla last of all.

Banana Dumplings—Make a regular pie crust roll out thin as for a pie, cut in pieces the same as for any other dumplings. Fill with sliced bananas, one tablespoon sugar or syrup to each dumpling. Flavor with nutmeg. Draw up the paste to cover the banana. Bake in buttered dish. Served hot with any kind of sauce.

Raisin Tapioca Dessert—Four cups hot water, one-half cup minute tapioca, one-third cup seeded raisins, three-quarters cup sugar or one cup honey or sirup, one-half tablespoon shredded citron, coconut, cream.

Add tapioca, raisins, sweetening and citron to hot water and cook slowly until tapioca is clear. Pour into small cups or molds, wetting them with cold water and set in cool place. When thoroughly chilled turn into individual plates, sprinkle with coconut and serve with cream.

Chocolate Pie—This sounds too economical to be good, but it is good, and is especially convenient as it can be so easily made larger or smaller: One cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons cocoa, two tablespoons cornstarch, one and one-half cups boiling water, one teaspoon vanilla.

Mix sugar, cornstarch and cocoa thoroughly before adding water; boil until thick. Fill baked shell and cover cool cover well with whipped cream.

"LEFTOVER" DISHES.

One small box noodles. To this add onion, chopped fine, a little salt and pepper. Just cover with boiling water and cook until noodles are softened. Then add left-over boiled potatoes cut up and any left-over meat.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff. For dandruff starves your hair and ruins it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp, and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get Liquid Arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

THE OVERNOURISHED BABY.

Obesity in a baby is even more hereditary than in an adult, because a baby's metabolism is not sufficiently active to take care of the heavy demands of growth, which requires constant tissue building, and at the same time support a big handicap of stouter cells. Fat cells are stouter cells; they do no useful work in the body. Divers alleged "infant foods" which come canned in powder form enjoy an unjustified popularity. Nearly all of these "foods" contain a great excess of sugars and precious little else. They are all virtually innocent of any fat content, and it is the live fat in breast milk and in certified butter or other clean, wholesome dairy milk that furnishes to the baby the indispensable vitamin, which prevents rickets, scurvy, anemia, and numerous other troubles. The canned dairy milk or other clean, wholesome foods do make a baby fat, for sugar so produced is flabby, and the baby so fattened is too often subject to the obstinate digestive disturbances and to permanent bony deformities of rickets.

In a breast fed baby familiar symptoms of overfeeding are regurgitation or vomiting after nursing, not immediately after nursing, but after several minutes or half an hour after nursing. Other signs are curds or lumps of cheesy or fatty substance in the stools; stools greenish when evacuated, and exceedingly frequent movements.

The overfed baby is restless, apparently in distress, and, in the estimation of every old granny who volunteers advice, "hungry." The baby shakes his fingers, perhaps has colic and draws up the legs and cries to beat the band. Everybody gets irritable and has a sure cure for such cases. Castor oil is ruthlessly poured in, only to postpone and increase the trouble next day.

The abdomen is often distended and chopped fine or ground. Any other left-overs may be added, such as a little corn or stewed tomatoes, portions too small to be served again. This is quickly made as well as being economical and appetizing.

Stout Patties—Add to mixture of ground meat, onion, bread crumbs, etc., two small raw potatoes chopped very fine or ground. Shape patties, dip in flour and fry slowly in fat until a nice brown. The addition of the raw potatoes not only makes the patties taste more delicious, but makes one pound of meat go much further.

Fond du Lac, Dec. 6.—An investigation of a fire which destroyed a large barn and ten horses here Monday, has been started by officials to determine whether the blaze was due to a war plot. LANCE CORPS, TELLS OF BAD

VALLEYS ARE FLOODED

Water and Mud in Roads Comes Up to Engines in Ambulances.—Trench
Mud is Waist Deep.

A Front Poste de Secours,
in Sight of the Boches, Somewhere in France.

"Dear Dad and Mother,
Your letters are coming through more regularly now and with the gazettes you are sending help to keep up the spirits. By this time you know that we are on the front again.
We have two cars on front work and two of evacuation work every twenty-four hours. Our posts are in the open country, so driving isn't so difficult as the other trip. The evacuation work permits light on the cars and that is a great help.

"The weather is beyond description;
rain and cold continually. Valleys are flooded, and the roads are so muddy that the cars can't pass over, and under water up to the engine, but the drivers went through just the same.
The trenches are so full of water that the 'couchees' are carried to sit up on the stretchers to keep from drowning. Communication trenches are waist deep, and such mud! The roads are like a river of mud. The ambulances are just stuck in the mud. We have to have a room in the house for a hangout. We gather around the big fireplace and play, sing and eat all day and night when off duty.
The weather is so rotten that the Boches can't even give our cars much work. For which we are thankful, as driving is awful, although I am getting used to it. You can't imagine rain the way we have it here. It is really continuous. Whenever I am on fatigue duty I try to cook something for the fellows. Last time I made two cakes with chocolate frosting.

"I wish I could send you a picture of the place I ate supper in the other night. It is really picturesque. It was in an old and I will try to give you a pen picture of it. The tunnel of a mine was cut out of the hillside, and only a few feet, but it resembles a 'drift' just the same. The roof is supported by large timbers four or five feet apart in two rows down the center. The floor is made of double-planked on either side and at about the middle left is a table. Across from this table is a small charcoal burner, which burns wood. Next to the stove is a second double-decker.

"Beyond the table is a grass bedstead and across the rear a second story bunk. Above the bunk is a swinging shelf packed with bread and candy cloth bags hang from the ceiling, out of the way. On all of the upright timbers hang canteens of pinhead or red wine, gas masks, etc. In the back of the room is a large mirror of the residents of the town. In the center of the table is a large basin which holds the grub. Several styles of tin plates filled with fresh fruit spuds are placed around the table. Two cups of bread are carefully on the table, and an assortment of cups and glasses filled with pinhead. Next to the mirror and beyond the stove is a long bench covered with the uniform of the Poilu. The faces are those you so often see in war pictures: faces of the small villages.
If I could only make you see the picture of all of us with a hunk of black one hand and a piece of potato in the other, it would give you some idea of our lunch room. Here's a call I've got to 'roll.' Will finish when I get back.

"Gest in guerre, so why worry.
"Back again. Some load. They had been shelling the road just before we reached the poste, and were likely to start again, so we had to hustle.
Of course the 'assis' were very keen to climb in the car. When they were in a braucardier gave me the information that they also had a 'couchee.' Was I sore? I had lots to say about the usual friend, efficiency.
I can tell you. Well the fun began.
First I pulled a stretched out form
from the mass of feet and equipment, and then I explained in my very best French that the 'assis' would have to move so I could put down the top stretchers. I explained it all to the braucardier, who was quite intelligent, and told him to make the soldiers do as I asked. Well, the stretchers and gear were all in a line, and the 'assis' couldn't get it into their heads. Then I started to put the sack down on top of them, hoping that they would understand. They yelled and jabbered, but couldn't get my idea. Then I used my flashlight to put them along, but they were scared and yelled. No light, no light.
"By this time we began to see the funny side and the braucardier and just stood there and laughed. At last the sack had been put on the bench, and times, and got on the bench I had indictated. Then I got a second fellow to follow him, and started to drop the sack in place. Well, it took us about fifteen minutes to load, and then the road was packed with supply trains and we had to tread our way through.

"All went well, although I couldn't get any more in high and had to use low most of the way. Got to Frigge and dumped the load, warmed up a bit and started back. By this time there was a lot of noise, but it was mostly French. I thought I saw a machine break ahead of me once, but guess it was farther ahead than I thought.
When I got to the relay poste I took a stretcher and blankets into an abri and went to sleep. That was about 8 or 9 o'clock.

"I slept until about 2, when White came in and said Doc had a load, so I had to go out to the poste again.
There was a deuced lot of bombarding going on then and we wanted to get out in a hurry. I got some coffee and bread and chatted with the driver of the car. He said the other car had gone out about 8 a. m. and hadn't returned. On my way to relay I met a reserve car and learned that our friend had skidded into a ditch and smashed his rear wheel. The reserve car had taken his 'blesses' on the O. E. and were just returning to send out the truck to get him. All in a day's work about here.
"I've been prowling around here
some and have taken a few pictures.
The town hasn't one whole house standing, and only the large limbs of the trees remain. It is quite desolate.
There are a few unexploded shells lying about but I haven't fooled with them. Received a fine letter from Hon. J. M. Whitehead and will answer it as soon as I have the time.
Well, I am getting sleepy so will 'hit myself to the barn and 'hit the hay', and that is no lie. Love, from 'Lonnie'.

BOY WAR PRISONER NOW RETURNED TO HOME IN MISSOURI

Lucien Lucier.

For three years, Lucien Lucier, a thirteen-year-old boy whose home is in Macos, Mo., was a war prisoner in the fighting zone in France, lost to his family and given up for dead. His family had gone to France on a visit when war broke out and his father was taken into the army. When the father was released from service the family returned to America without the boy they thought lost, but Red Cross workers later found Lucier, and arranged for his return to his family.

Camp Grant Notes

331st Machine Gun Battalion, Camp Grant, Dec. 6.—Janesville and Beloit citizens who are fighting hard, but the harder they fight the happier the members of Co. C 331st Machine Gun Battalion will be. The fight time is over who is going to give the largest dance.

Janesville boys who are members of Co. C gave a dance in Janesville on Saturday, Nov. 24th, for the benefit of the Red Cross fund and had one of the largest crowds that ever attended a dance in the Bower City. Not to be outdone by the members from Janesville, the Beloit fellows are giving a dance in the Cosmo Hall at Beloit on Saturday evening, Dec. 8th.

Beloit as a whole are back of the boys and all claim that they are going to show Janesville up in this event and give to the Company fund twice as much money as their ancient rivals gave. The people of Beloit are working hard to make the dance a success and the Janesville men have not given up hopes and claim that the dance in Janesville will never be equalled in the state of Wisconsin, but the Beloit boys only laugh at this.

Supply Sergeant Raymond Gallaher of Beloit is chairman of the committee and when interviewed this morning claimed that he hadn't the slightest doubt but what the dance in the Gateway City would surpass the dance given in Janesville. Co. C's jazz orchestra will again be the feature and the Beloit people are going to be given a real treat when the jazz orchestra starts to play. They have been practicing hard and have all the latest music and are prepared to give the dancers a brand of music that has never been heard in Beloit before.

Supply Sergeant Raymond Gallaher of Beloit was a very busy man Saturday and Sunday looking after the details of the dance to be held in Beloit Saturday evening. As a result he had no chance to try and catch Sergeant Smith in their race. Watch for results.

Private Thomas Farrell was seen driving a big car down the main street of Janesville Saturday afternoon and he was so busy that he couldn't even recognize his old friends.

Corporal Frank Koehler is another one of those men who are busy from the time they reach Janesville until they return. It is a very hard task to keep track of Frank after he reaches the Bower City.

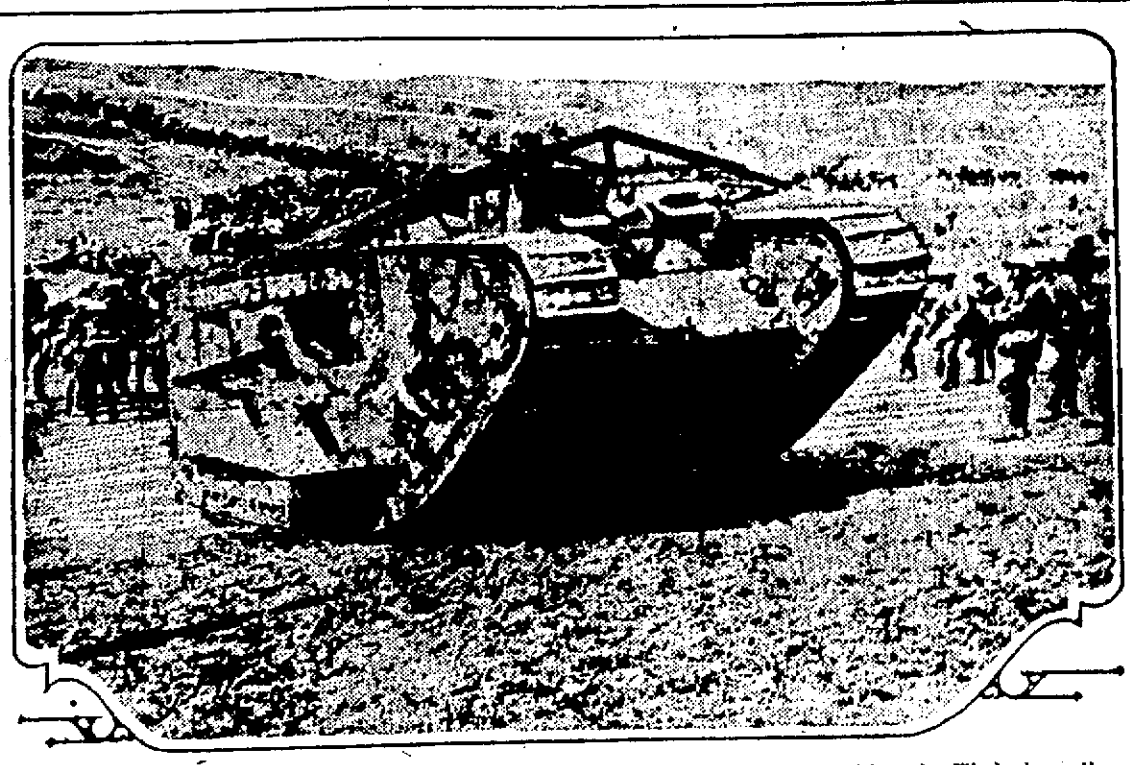

Sergeant Frank Byrne of Janesville claims that he would appreciate it very much if the government would allow him to go home every Saturday. There are several others that wish the same thing.

FOE DIG IN DEEP ON WESTERN FRONT

The allies have been surprised to note the depth of the German trenches that have recently been captured on the western front.

TANKS ARE IMPORTANT TOOL IN BYNG'S SURPRISE ATTACK

The type of powerful British tank employed in clearing way for infantry in smashing the Hindenburg line. The great force of Britain's giant tanks tearing a way through the German barbed wire entanglements was an important reason for the greatest allied victory of the year against the Hindenburg line in northern France. This has been the most brilliant success of the powerful land monitors whose holes torn in the lines of the foe prepared a way for the infantry attack and permitted an advance through an almost unresisting foe with the very slightest losses to the British.

The men are worrying over it as they can find no reason for it. Dave still gets his regular letters and long distance calls, but still he seems worried. Perhaps it is because the football team is not playing any more, or perhaps?

GIBBONS IS NOT TOO PROUD BUT TOO BUSY

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
New York, Dec. 6.—Mike Gibbons, middleweight excellent, is, as a matter of fact, too busy to bother about a little thing like a piece of light between a couple of professional scrappers. That is, Mike's too busy to bother about the mine-run variety of box-fights, for Mike is spending his time these days clubbing a bunch of young hunkies into fighting shape at Fort Dodge, which lies just out of Des Moines, Iowa.

Mike had a chance to take on Harry Greb in an encounter at Pittsburgh and was ready to sign articles until conditions were imposed he didn't like, so he requested Eddie Kane, his manager, to call off proceedings and let him keep on teaching the soldiers how to box.

"Why, Mike is so wrapped up in this thing I can hardly get him to talk," said Kane recently. "He got out of bed one morning at 6 o'clock and went out to the camp to watch the soldiers go through their calisthenics. He wanted to see it all and he wanted to see Mike going to introduce a Mike Gibbons system to those fellows. He certainly is getting wonderful results with the work he already has started."

Mike himself talked a little about the joys and right crosses he is putting into the hearts of the men. He explained all over himself, and getting Mike to say a few dozen words is like trying a hard-boiled egg loose from a dime.

LAKOTAS WILL NOT PLAY ON SATURDAY

Efforts to Secure Game for Saturday Have Met With No Results—Will Play on Following Sunday.

Although efforts were made to secure a team from Camp Grant to meet the Lakota Cardinals on Saturday evening, no team has been secured. Word received from Camp Grant was to the effect that a team had not yet been organized for playing outside games, but that one will be ready to meet the Cardinals on Christmas.

Efforts will be made to secure the game for one week from Saturday, so that local fans will have an opportunity of seeing the members of the Lakotas in action before they depart for service. Mitchell, Korst and Piffeld will soon be called to duty at the cantonments of the country and will be unable to return to play.

BADGERS SHOW PEP IN INITIAL PRACTICE AT BASKETBALL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Dec. 6.—A few flashes of real basketball were displayed by the varsity basketball players in a snappy practice game against the freshmen team last night. Team work, accurate passing and shooting were in evidence at times, and a good game is looked for Saturday with Beloit. In last night's lineup, Coach Lowman was in the forward positions for the varsity. Zuber at center, and Swenson and Brock in the guard positions. For twenty minutes this combination took the floor against Coach Lanier's "fresh" five. Simpson and Hammer were working hard to get in condition for the Beloit game.

Last night's rehearsal showed that the team has possibilities and that they have been receiving extra good coaching from Coach Lowman. Despite the handicaps, Wisconsin may turn out a team from its varsity squad that will compare favorably with other conference teams.

HANDBALL TOURNAMENT SCHEDULED IN DETROIT

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Detroit, Mich., Dec. 6.—An invitation tournament to decide the singles and doubles championships of the west at handball will take place on the Detroit Athletic club's courts Dec. 7 and 8. It is expected that star players from Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville and other cities will compete.

DETROIT INFIELDER IS NOW PLAYING BASKETBALL

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Detroit, Dec. 6.—Marty Kavanagh, former infielder of the Detroit and Cleveland Americans, has been elected captain of the varsity basketball team, a local five. Marty played with the same team last winter and last summer he played baseball with a local semi-professional club, the Max wells, which won the championship of the country.

Uncle Sam has collected thousands of dollars from the Maryland and Kentucky race tracks in the form of excess profits taxes. It is said that Laurel and Pimlico each handed over nearly $50,000 to the government this year, while the other Maryland tracks, Havre de Grace and Bowie, each yielded about $50,000. The Lexington, Louisville and Lexington tracks in Kentucky had to pay a total of $80,000 in taxes at the spring and fall meetings. The government netted $350,000 from these seven race courses, all of which the parliament betting system was in vogue. The Maryland tracks, by the way, will go before the next legislature with a licensing proposition calculated to prevent the wiping out of the sport in that state.

Sport Snap Shots

MORRIS MILLER

Billy Sunday, the evangelist, once had the ambition to become a pitcher, and it was on July 16, 1890, that he got his chance—and failed. It was the fifth inning of a game between the Phillies and the Pirates when Billy tried his hand at twirling for the Pittsburgh team. Murd started the game, but was batted out of the box in the first inning. The other pitcher by the name of Baker took up the work for three innings. He, too, suffered severely, and in the sixth Billy Sunday stepped into the box and took a hand at pitching.

The first man who faced him walked, the second hit out for a three-bagger, the third for a double and the next was hit by a pitched ball and took his base. That was enough, Billy Sunday was gently but firmly taken out of the box and he never tried to pitch again for the National league. "Sunday was a rattling good fielder," the records of the day say, "but he demonstrated in that one inning that he wasn't a good pitcher."

The suggestion credited to Charles A. Comstock, owner of the Chicago White Sox, that it may become necessary as a war measure for major league clubs to pool their players opens the door for discussion. The idea is that anything of the sort ever will be done are remote in the extreme, but it is a fascinating proposition in theory.

Under existing conditions four teams almost invariably are out of the race by midseason. Theoretically, by the pooling of players a scheme could be worked out by which all eight clubs would finish nose and nose in October. For instance, the Cubs in a major league could be numbered from one to eight. No. 1 would then be permitted to pick a first baseman, the other clubs then would pick one in rotation. No. 8, of course, taking whatever was left. But No. 8 would get its first choice of second basemen. The choice of shortstops would begin with No. 2. The choice of third basemen with No. 3. No. 3 would have the pick of outfielders and so on with catchers and pitchers in rotation.

"In times of peace prepare for war" is an old adage. So in times of war prepare for peace. "Hurry Up" Yost, the Michigan football mentor, already is looking forward to 1918. His charges return to a place in the conference group, and indications point to a strong team. Unless many more of his men are called to the colors there will be a abundance of good material on hand when the 1918 practice season starts. The obstacle encountered this fall will not be present in 1918, according to all the available dope. Although the names of the men not been announced as yet, the list is not a hard one to form. And of course of those fourteen or fifteen men and will require "M" sweaters, eleven and possibly twelve, will be back in college next fall. Goodsell and Veske, tackles, are the only men Yost is due to lose through graduation, and there is a chance that Goodsell will be eligible to play.

The world's champion White Sox have another knockout king in Paul Musser, purchased from the Des Moines club of the Western league. Musser, who was given a trial by the Washington club in 1912, fairly burned up the Western league this year and seems due for a triumphant comeback in the league in which he once failed to show enough stuff to warrant his being retained. Besides leading the league in the matter of keeping down the average of runs earned off his delivery, Musser struck out twenty-two men in one game, seventeen in another, thirteen men in each of four other pastimes and on five more occasions fanned ten or more of the opposing batters for out. He made a name for himself while pitching for Susquehanna University many years ago. Since his release by the Senators in 1912 he has played with Atlanta, Los Angeles and Des Moines.

Clark Griffith, manager of the Washingtons, who attended the Louisville minor league meeting recently says that two American league managers—Huggins of the Yankees and Rowland of the White Sox—attempted to talk of trades with him. Griffith was willing to strengthen his team, if possible, but he says that he balked when Huggins and Rowland tried to hand over nothing for something. Rowland is said to have made an offer for Pitchers Dumont and Shaw, while Huggins was after Clyde Milan and Eddie Foster. Griffith denies the report that Colonel Ruppert offered $50,000 for the release of Sir Walter Johnson.

It would be like the old days in school when the captains chose up sides, except that in those days the first choice was determined by the two rivals climbing a bat hand over hand until the last man could or could not crowd three fingers in the space remaining at the top. The eight managers would choose up sides from the total playing strength of the league.

According to dopesters, the Giants were the greatest marks for opposing pitchers in the league. During the season fifty-four of them reached first as a result of being thumped by the ball. The Pirates received forty-four passes through being hit, the Braves forty-two the Reds thirty-four, the Robins twenty-nine, the Cardinals twenty-three, the Cubs twenty-two and the Phillies, who proved to be the best dodgers of the lot, twenty.

Jim Coffey is now entirely out of the basic spotlight. Time was when the Dublin Giant was hailed as the most formidable of the white heavyweights, barring Champion Willard, but Frank Moran's heavy punches demonstrated the Dublin wonder was handicapped by a glass jaw. In his few recent battles Coffey has shown all his old skill, but he couldn't take a wallop on the chin. A light hitter like Bal Levinsky had him punch crazy, and Ed Brennan should have finished Coffey in their bout, but did not follow his advantages. Bartley Madden, a never-was from New Jersey, stopped Coffey in the seventh round, while ago and practically ended Jim's comeback campaign.

Princeton, Yale and Harvard, and in fact practically every college in the United States that abandoned football this year will revive the gridiron sport next season. This, at least, is the prediction of J. H. "Speedy" Rush, football mentor of Princeton.

BOY WONDER WILL PLAY FOR TITLE

Ralph Greenleaf, the "boy wonder" of billiards, will compete sometime in the middle of December with Frank Taberski for the championship of continuous pocket billiards. The winner of the match will be in possession of the championship emblem which has been a medium of competition since March of 1916. Greenleaf is eighteen years old.

HARD HIT IN WATERS ABOUT ENGLAND. U-BOATS MAY VISIT AMERICAN COAST

Owing to the difficulties now being encountered by U-boats operating in the waters about England, it is considered among the possibilities that the Germans will change the under sea terror zone to include the eastern coast of the two Americas. The map shows how Hun submarines, operating in conjunction with German commerce raiders, might make an attack on vessels traversing the regular trade routes between America and Europe.

LYE HOMINY WILL SAVE WHEAT

By P. G. HOLDEN.

THE making of lye hominy is a method of utilizing corn for food, and saving wheat needed by our allies in the world war. Use one pound of concentrated lye to 25 pounds of corn. Cover the corn with boiling water; stir the lye slowly into the corn; continue to stir until the hull loosens; pour off the lye water; add fresh water until the corn floats; rub the hull from the corn until clean, using a Bell churn or washing with the hands; boil 45 minutes. One bushel of corn will make three bushels of hominy.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has reprinted a large edition of Farmers' Bulletin No. 565, "Corn Meal as a Food and Ways of Using It." Every housewife should send for a copy, which can be secured free.

GENERAL KALEDINES, COSSACK LEADER, STANDS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND AN INGLORIOUS PEACE

General Kaledines (cross) and his staff.

With Kerensky down and out, there seems to be but one hope left for Russia. General Kaledines, the leader of the Cossacks, is against Lenin and his proposals for a peace favorable to Germany. According to recent reports from Petrograd, thousands of loyal Russian soldiers and officers are flocking to the standard of General Kaledines, who is reported in control of most of southeastern Russia.

TURKO-GERMANS GIVE UP HOPE OF SAVING JERUSALEM

Jerusalem.

The British forces under General Allenby are at the very gates of Jerusalem, and the Turko-Germans have abandoned hopes of permanently holding the city. German newspapers are taking pains to inform their readers that Jerusalem has no military value. Should British forces gain control of the city, however, the moral effect throughout Christendom, even in Germany itself, would be very great.

BREAKING THE NEWS

By WAYNE GRAY.

"Now, Maxie, you know—" "Don't call me Maxie." Max shook his big blond head wickedly at the offending one. "If ever a kid needed it taken out of him, you do, and for a nickel I'd do it myself."

"You'll make a fine big brother, I don't think so—maybe," Freddie dug back, but in a rebuking tone, even a grieving and disappointed one. "Why don't you talk that way when Edie's around to listen and get acquainted with you?"

"It's a mighty good thing for Edie and me there's only one like you in the family. I don't mind kids and I know all about boys, but there's a limit. What time did they go?"

"About seven. I told him you was coming with your car at seven-thirty to take her out. You see, it was this way, Max: Edie'd been crying ever since she came home and the girls and mother fussed over her and told her it was all for the best and how nice you were and how they all liked you—you know the line they hand out. And Edie cried all the more. Then pretty soon mother asks her did you two have a fight and she says no, she don't want to hear your name—"

Max's face reddened. He lit a cigarette with unsteady fingers.

"Go ahead. What else," he said. "Then the bell rings and it's the boss' son down where she's been working this last week and that's all. They went out to—show."

Freddie stopped short. Even at eleven one may understand things, and the look on Max Dittmar's face cut short any further confidences.

"I wouldn't care, Max," he added confidentially. "Girls is just girls, you know, and she's engaged to you."

"What's that got to do with it when she'll go out with another fellow." He turned quickly at the opening of the outer door, but it was only Kitty, Edie's younger sister.

"Now what's happened?" she laughed. "Edie eloped?"

"He's having the everlasting collywobbles because she went out with Jack Lewis."

"Mother wants you to go to the store, Freddie." Kit gave him a long, steady stare of infinite disapproval. As the door shut, she glanced at Max.

"Max, will you just listen to me a minute before mother comes in and the rest? Edie and I—room together and we've been chums ever since we were toddlers, I guess. She's cried herself to sleep for three nights now. You don't mind if I tell you just the way it seems to me, do you? You've always seemed pretty big to us, Max, even before you asked Edie to marry you. Father'd give me an awful scolding if he knew I dared to open my mouth to you, but it's for Edie's sake. Do you mind?"

"I suppose she's in love with this kid or thinks she is," Max blurted out. "Go ahead. Don't mind me."

"She don't think she is. She knows it. So does he. But you see, you've got father and mother on your side, and Edie's sensible. Edie told me last night she didn't dare break the engagement. But she said she knew the minute Jack came into the office and spoke to her he was the right one."

Max stood listening, watching her face all animated and tender as she pleaded Edie's cause.

"Anyway, I don't think it's so wrong to break an engagement," Kit said earnestly. "Maybe by and by you'd find somebody you liked better, too."

"Maybe I would," assented Max. "Only we'll miss you awfully in the family." Kit's hazel eyes were full of regret. "Maybe I shouldn't have told you, but I want to get some sleep nights. Mother'll be needing me to help with dinner. Good-by."

She held out her hand laughing. Max stood up and laid his hands on her shoulders, looking down into her eyes searchingly.

"Say, listen, Kit. Would you throw me down like that for Jack Lewis? Do you think that's fair?"

Kit laughed, and drew back. "I don't know but what it is. I know I'd have thrown down Jack for you if it had been the other way."

Freddie opened the hall door from the dining-room, took one amazed look at the two figures in the parlor and moved stealthily back into the shadows.

"Gee," he said to himself thoughtfully, "he must like our family."

EDGERTON IS WINNER IN JUDGING CONTEST

Third Stock Judging Contest of the Rock County District took place Wednesday. This is a contest under the auspices of a committee of the agricultural section of the Wisconsin State Teachers' association, in which the state is divided into districts, the schools in each district competing against each other, and the winning teams trying out for the state honors at a final meet at Madison in February.

The high schools of Milton, Milton Junction, Edgerton and Janesville were the ones taking part in the contest on Wednesday. Each school was represented by a team of three boys, who were to judge each class of stock presented for their consideration and give reasons for their ranking. The boys were accompanied by their agricultural instructors. The judges were W. C. Crandall, formerly instructor in animal husbandry in the college of agriculture at Urbana, Ill. County Agent L. A. Markham, assistant instructor of the Brown Swiss Breeders' association. Secretary Senty of the Y. M. C. A. was also one of the judges, which met at the Janesville high school about eight-thirty, going out there in cars to the various farms where the stock to be judged was located.

The first stop was made at E. H. Parker's, where the boys tried their skill on a class of four Duroc Jersey hogs, and another class consisting of the same number of short-horned cattle. After their first round, Mr. Crandall told the boys how the judges had ranked them and explained why. Mr. Markham made the explanation for the cattle.

The party next proceeded to the farm of Ward Brothers, about two miles southeast of Emerald Grove, where a class of Holstein cows was ranked by the boys and the judges' explanation was given by Mr. Crandall.

The next stop was made at Emerald Grove, where the party of twenty-two was served a hearty lunch by the ladies of the Congregational church.

The farm of John Cooper, near Clinton, was the next place of interest. Mr. Cooper's two head of Brown Swiss here claimed the first attention, and after the boys had done their judging and the explanation had been given by Mr. Janney, the boys were shown the head of the herd, and a typical Brown Swiss cow.

The interest here was heightened by Mr. Cooper's offer of one dollar to the boy who succeeded in placing the four cows in the same order in which they were placed by the judges. As each Janesville boy and no other one, succeeded in doing this, the Janesville team were the winners of this special prize.

The cows being judged, draft horses were next judged. Mr. Avers giving the ranking and explanation. After this came another sheep, with Mr. Cooper making the explanation.

This closed the work of judging for the day. An examination of the boys' papers gave the following results:

First place, Edgerton, 8,300 points; second, Janesville, 6,200 points; third, Milton, 5,800 points; fourth, Milton Junction, 5,700 points. The individual ranking highest was Lowell Slagter of Edgerton, and the lowest highest was Francis Cunningham of Janesville.

The Edgerton team will represent the county at Madison in February.

The Janesville team, consisted of Edmund Overton, Malcomb Paul and Francis Cunningham, seniors of the agricultural course of the high school.

Teamsters Life Saved; Peterson Is Happy

I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William Haase, West Park, Ohio, care P. O. Ref. 100.

"I am proud of the above letter," says Peterson. "It makes me happy. I have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Piles and Skin Diseases, Pimples, Blackheads and ugly blemishes."

Peterson's Ointment is 25 cents at all druggists, and there isn't a broad minded druggist in America that won't praise it. Peterson's Ointment 30 cents after December 1st.

VAN HISE PROTESTS CHARGES OF VROOMAN

Madison, Wis., Dec. 5.—Protesting in a personal letter to President Wilson against the action of Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carl S. Vrooman, as a public official, in questioning the patriotism and loyalty of the University of Wisconsin, without previous investigation of the facts, President Charles R. Van Hise, of the university, declared the charges to be groundless and to be deeply resented by regents, faculty and students.

The sending of the letter was announced at the meeting of the board of regents today.

Mr. Vrooman spoke on Nov. 21 before a patriotic convocation of students arranged to assist the Y. M. C. war fund campaign. In the evening, while speaking at the Wisconsin Potato Show, he declared that students had evidence of lack of patriotic response at what he understood was their first patriotic mass meeting and questioned whether the university expressed "a militant patriotism."

"The second address," President Van Hise declared in the letter, "was an attack upon the active patriotism of the University of Wisconsin, not by direct statement, but by the far more objectionable and less courageous method of implication."

"The alleged facts presented in support of the implication of lack of patriotism are first, that the loyalty meeting at which Mr. Vrooman spoke was the only one which had been held at Wisconsin this year; second, that the student audience was not responsive to his address.

"The first statement is wholly without foundation. There have been a series of patriotic meetings at the university this year, of which one of the most important was addressed by Mr. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury. In addition to these, we have had a course of lectures on the war twice a week by members of the staff of the university, open to the entire student body and to the public. At these addresses and lectures the students have been uniformly responsive.

"The nature of Mr. Vrooman's address is called to your attention for the reason that the regents, the faculty, and the students, deeply resent the serious reflection made upon the patriotism of this institution by a high public official. For Mr. Vrooman, officially speaking for the government, to cast extremely objectionable reflections on the patriotism of the university without knowledge of what we have done or attempt to ascertain the truth, seems to us so seriously to misrepresent your position that I feel you should know the facts."

As evidence of student response to the call of war, President Van Hise pointed out that at least 350 students had entered the army and navy before the present year and many since that time that 234 took the university's intensive military course to prepare for officers' camps, that 448 were released for emergency food production work last spring, and that at least 1,650 others enrolled for summer war service of various kinds.

"The faculty and students subscribed $200,000 to the second Liberty loan and over-subscribed their allotment of $20,000 to the Y. M. C. A. war fund, he declared.

In discussing the patriotic leadership, the letter declared that 34 members of the faculty had engaged in war work up to the opening of the fall semester, that 75 are now absent on war service, and that more than 35

are in the army and navy. Besides the work which they have done on leave of absence, he pointed out that many now on the staff are devoting much time to war work of various kinds. A large group have been organized to give patriotic addresses in Wisconsin communities.

"The university has aggressively taken the initiative in many lines of effort to assist in the prosecution of the war and has given prompt and complete response to all suggestions and demands from the outside," he declared.

Doctor's Advice. "The doctor says he will let me know in a week whether I am going to live or not." "And what does he expect you to do in the meantime?" "He told me to take a complete rest and above all not to worry about anything." —Life.

SWITZERLAND PLANS STEPS FOR CONTROL OF FOREIGN ELEMENT

Berne, Dec. 6.—Switzerland finally has taken initial steps to control the undesirable foreign element from which she has suffered as no other neutral country since August, 1914. New regulations adopted by the federal council are intended to make it difficult for the agent of one of the warring countries, for the deserter from any side, from the foreigner without obvious, legitimate means of livelihood and occupation to look as heretofore, into the little country that is trying desperately to maintain an upright neutrality and at the same time weather the storm until peace arrives.

Switzerland hitherto has permitted, without any material objection, scores of thousands of strangers to enter almost as freely as in peace times. Now action has been taken to stop this because her hospitality has been grossly violated, her neutrality at times even threatened.

The new rules, which will become effective as soon as the Swiss diplomatic and consular officials throughout the world can be notified, require that all foreigners entering the country must be equipped with a passport, or equivalent papers of identification; that prior to coming to Switzerland all foreigners must furnish to Swiss diplomatic or consular officials adequate reasons for wanting to come here; and that, after arrival, strangers must register with the police of the city or town they intend to inhabit.

There has always been a daily traffic between France and Switzerland in the neighborhood of Geneva, and between Germany and Switzerland near Basel on the part of laborers and others. Many undesirables, however, have smuggled themselves across the border and have failed to return. Once in Switzerland they have been able to hide because of the lack of control over foreigners.

This all is to be changed. Every person crossing the border at other than the ordinary points where frontier passports will be required, will be numbered. If he fails to return, the police will be put upon his trail. He will have little chance of escaping, for without the right kind of credentials he is unable to obtain bread. A bread card today is more important even than the money with which to purchase it—and a bread card is issued only on presentation of identification papers.

The hotel at which the newcomer stops, the pension that takes him in, the private family to whom he may go, are all liable to heavy penalties if they fail to announce his arrival.

There remain the problem of the deserters who have managed to flee across the boundary from one army or another, and of the near deserters, those who have come here with the permission of their respective governments, and then have declined to return. Swiss law prescribes that these deserters and refractory ones as they are called can not be forcibly deported. There are in Switzerland now, it is estimated, between 10,000 and 15,000 of these gentry. Not all of them are bad citizens. Hundreds of them at least are painfully occupied and are living model lives. Others are undesirable to the point of being out-and-out criminals. Figures for Geneva alone show that out of 70,000 foreigners and 17,000 Swiss citizens, 1,336 are deserters, and 2,452 refractory ones, while in Zurich these figures are exceeded.

The agitation for the utilization of the man-power represented by the deserters and refractory ones is so strong that it will surprise no one to see steps taken to incorporate the majority of them into a civilian service of manual labor in agriculture.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Dec. 5.—Mr. Younggreen of Belvidere, Ill., arrived in the village on Monday and will be the manager of the Borden plant here. He has been in the employ of the company for over twenty years and the business connected with the local plant will not be new to him. He will move his family here as soon as there is a house vacant.

Orfordville will have her second poultry show next week. The one held a year ago proved satisfactory and the management resolved to arrange for one this season. The upper floor of the Southman warehouse has been secured for the purpose.

Dr. Campbell of Madison, Grand commander of the Beaver Reserve Band and Fraternity, and Mr. Heine, a deputy of the order, of Milwaukee, were in the village on Wednesday evening. The order held a special meeting at the O'Brien hall, over which Dr. Campbell presided. After the regular work, light refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The order is in a very flourishing condition.

A school social will be held on Thursday evening at the "Anderson" school house, for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. A program will be rendered by the school and speeches will be delivered in both the Norwegian and English language. Cora Thorson is teacher.

Chas. Taylor has been appointed a member of the Legal Advisory Board for Rock county.

A box social will be held in the Rock school house on Friday evening, Dec. 14, for the benefit of the Young Women's Christian Association. The exercises will consist of music, addresses and recitations. After the exercises the boxes will be sold at auction to the highest bidder. The proceeds will go toward making up the fund assigned to this section of Rock county. Della Voe is teacher.

The Reasons for the Christmas Banking Club

To provide a way for those of moderate and even small means to save a part of what they earn.

To teach the saving habit to old as well as young by having a certain specified sum to save each week.

To make it easy for little children to learn that saving and banking money is the sure way to accumulate money.

To teach economy by showing that the small amounts usually frittered away for unnecessary things amount to large sums in a short time.

To make "SAVERS" instead of "SPENDERS" out of the people.

To help others to help themselves.

For instance, if you join the 5c Decreasing Club your payments are—

1st week .....	$2.50
2nd week .....	$2.45
3rd week .....	$2.40

Each week you decrease your payments 5c. Your last payment is only 5c. In fifty weeks you have $63.75.

We have decreasing Clubs in 1c, 2c, 5c and 10c.
